One of my fondest memories of Zaqqie is that she was such an awesome big sister, she always looked out for Kallan and made sure he was okay. If he wasn't you'd have to answer to her. 😊

My memory of Zaaqie where should I start. Well I can definitely say she had a lot of spunk not only in personality but her style. I can always recall Zaaqie always being honest. I came over one day and she looked at me up and down and said umm honey not that outfit what are you wearing. I laughed so much because I remember throwing something on real quick and running out the house and to only have Zaaqie check me as she always did. Or when I as dressed in approval for her she would give me a couple of finger snaps and say yes honey that outfit looks good. She always was welcoming. Never was a time that I came over that I was greeted with love our open hands and even an eye roll depending on her mood with me lol. But the eye roll was always with love just her way of letting you know in my eyes that she liked you. -Tatie Bean

*Share a

I have so many memories of Zaqqie 🥺 my favorite ones were definitely when we had our little song writing competitions and we each had a book to write them down in and would perform them in front of our cousins to see who the winner was. Or when we all used to play hide and seek or uno together. And she would always give the biggest hugs 🥺❤️ - Francesca

My favorite memory with zaqqie's has to be from a long time ago at a family party, it could've been the holidays or a birthday but all i remember is all the kids gathering together in the living room dancing, yelling, and laughing. it didn't matter the house or the event we always were just so happy to see each other. we had a lot of those moments, of just pure joy being with one another. constantly making each other laugh until we cried or just dancing with our friends/family until we were dehydrated and sweating 😓. each gathering was my favorite .

Share a Memory

each gathering was my favorite . some times they would involve me or sisi having to grab her hand and bring her to the dance floor but once she was there you could see her mood change drastically, immediately laughing or smiling. no matter the event we always had so much fun and couldn't wait for the next one.

I have so many favorite memories of Zaqqie, especially being a new person showing up into the family events. She would always make sure to say hello to me and was the most welcoming spirit. But I'd have to say that walking in to the house and hearing her singing all the time was one that definitely made me
